CutCrew

FOR ACCOUNTANTS & BOOKKEEPERS

LIVE ON THE APP STORE · IPHONE AND IPAD

Your worst clients become your easiest.

Your landscaper clients will hand you a ZIP of named receipt photos and a CSV mapped to Schedule C lines instead of a shoebox.

CutCrew is the crew clock that runs a landscaping business's back office. The crew punches in on their phones, receipts get photographed at the register and categorized on the spot, and invoices get paid by link. At the close of a quarter the owner taps once, and the two files below land in your inbox.

EACH QUARTER, YOUR INBOX GETS

A file, not a shoebox.

`GreenAcresLawn_2026-Q2_receipts.zip`

Every approved receipt photo, filed by month and named by date, vendor, and amount.

2026-04/2026-04-19_MowerPartsCo_312.88.jpg
… 139 more, named the same way
index.csv
```

A copy of the CSV rides inside the archive, so the ZIP stands on its own years later.

`GreenAcresLawn_2026-Q2_scheduleC.csv`

One row per receipt, eight columns:

date, vendor, description, amount, category,
schedule_c_line, payment_method, receipt_photo

Categories are assigned at the register rather than reconstructed in April, and each carries its Schedule C line. The last column holds that receipt's path inside the ZIP, so every row ties to its image.

WHY IT HOLDS UP

Records lock at export

Once a quarter is sent, those receipts can no longer be edited. What you file from is what existed that day.

Corrections are logged

A fixed time entry is written as a new record carrying who changed it and when. The original stays readable.

Kept 7 years

Every export and the records behind it stay on file for seven years, including for crew who have left.
